PARENTING CLASSES

The next parenting class in our series takes place this Sunday at 10:30AM. Mrs. Marlowe will, once again, be joining Rabbi Baumann.

ASSEMBLIES

Our Chodesh Shevat assemblies will take place, IY"H, this Thursday, January 6 featuring 5G and 2B. Girls' assembly is at 1:30PM and the boys' assembly takes place at 2:45PM. Official uniforms must be worn all day on Thursday, including white knee socks for the girls.

CLASS PICTURES

Reminder: Class pictures will be taken on Thursday, January 6, our official uniform/assembly day.

TV CONTROL ACTIVITIES

The excited participants of our TV Control Winners Day were put to the challenge through a myriad of competitions between the boys' blue and green teams and the girls' orange and red teams, as all the participants enjoyed a day of fun, food and festivities.

It was a pleasure to watch the children thoroughly engrossed in the exhilarating activities! Many thanks to our chefs extraordinaires, Mr. Akrish and Mr. Harkavy, for their time and talents. A special thank you to Mrs. Chani Dudovitz and Mrs. Esther Schwab, our dynamic parent volunteers, who helped make this an extra delicious day for all those who earned it:

MAZEL TOV!
TO THE WINNING TEAMS OF TV CONTROL WINNERS DAY...
BOYS - BLUE TEAM
GIRLS - RED TEAM

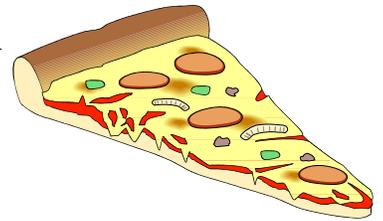

If you were unable to participate this time, remember you still have a chance to be a winner in our next TV Control Program, which will take place, IY"H, during Sefiras HaOmer.

KONEI OLAM

We wrapped up our stay in Canada with a visit to Niagara Falls. Starting next week, we'll be learning about Chessed in?? If you are able to assist with sponsorship of this worthwhile program, please contact Rabbi Baumann. Tizku L'Mitzvos!

PIZZA

Order forms were sent home today for the next pizza cycle, which begins Friday, January 7. If you would like your child(ren) to receive pizza, please fill out the order form and send it in with payment by Tuesday. If you would like your child to purchase canteen items with their pizza (chips and seltzer @ .50 each), please remember to give him or her an extra dollar on Fridays.

HOT LUNCH CYCLE III

Forms for the third cycle of the Hot Lunch Program were sent home on Wednesday. Cycle III will begin on Monday, January 31 immediately following our midwinter vacation. Forms must be returned by Tuesday, January 4.

MAZEL TOV

To Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Herzek and family on the Bar Mitzvah of their son, our alumnus, Elie.

To Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kalchman and family on the Bar Mitzvah of their son, our alumnus, Moshe.

LOST AND FOUND

We are reminding you once again of our overflowing lost and found boxes, filled with sweatshirts, jackets, sweaters and even lunchboxes. We will keep these items in school until winter vacation, so please claim your belongings before they are gone. Since many sweatshirts look alike, please check the outerwear that your child brings home from school to make sure it doesn't have another child's name on it.

Erev Shabbos Parashas Vaera 5771

Dear Parents,

In this week's Parsha we read about the plagues that Hashem visited upon the Egyptians. In particular, we are told in significant detail, the incredible disruption to their lives caused by the plague of frogs. On the other hand, this second plague, is discussed in Medrash Rabba 10:2, where it tells us that the plague caused peace between Egypt and its neighbor Cush, because the presence of the frogs demarcated the borders of Egypt. Whereas before the frogs, there had been a border dispute, that issue was now settled for all to see.

This is most perplexing. Most of us would think that when two people or two countries have a dispute and in the end there is one winner and one loser, there may be an end to overt hostilities, but there will be a lot of simmering rage and resentment. It usually looks like anything but peace when the loser emerges from a Din Torah or civil court case. We can understand if the Medrash would tell us the border skirmishes ended, but how could there be peace between competing nations when one suddenly loses its claim to land?

The answer is that when boundaries are set clearly, authoritatively and decisively, as was done by the frogs, a person or nation can make peace with it and the agitation dissipates. It's only when lines are blurred, when false hopes arise or linger, when something is not clearly defined or put out of reach that conflicts, both internal and external, arise. People remain frustrated and angry after losing a court case, because they question the validity of the judge, court and proceedings. With the proper respect for the authority of the court, even a negative ruling would be accepted with equanimity. When a person thinks an object of their desire is within reach, they'll resort to inappropriate means to procure it. This is well illustrated by understanding how Halachah serves the role of a border, a boundary. A person who lives according to Halacha will more easily resist the temptation of someone else's money, a questionably kosher food, or an illicit relationship. They are simply out of reach, as out of reach as a peasant marrying a princess.

This idea is especially crucial in the Chinuch of our children. Children, for whom clear boundaries have been drawn, are more settled, calm and accepting of whatever rules they are subject to. No matter what they may say at first, they actually feel safer and more self confident when they have safe boundaries and guidelines. When a parent is not decisive, when the chance of a 'yes' remains even after a verbal 'no' then the child will be unable to accept the 'no' because it's not for sure. When a child is confident that the parent means what he says, he will happily accept whatever decision is rendered, even if it goes against what the child has been so passionately advocating for.

We parents need to understand the value of being forthright in our dealings with our children. It provides security for our child, by removing false hopes and allowing the child to live in the present without constant dissatisfaction. If we realize how great the benefits are to our children when we confidently and clearly set limits for them, we'll also understand that they strongly prefer a clear 'no', to an uncertain 'yes'.

Best wishes for a decidedly wonderful Shabbos,

Rabbi Kalman Baumann

Pictured here are students who were honored by their parents on the occasion of their birthdays with donations to the TEAM library. A bookplate with the student's name is placed on the inside of the cover; the student takes the book home for a week before it becomes a part of the library; the student's picture appears in the TEAM Spirit.

Thank you to all who have participated this year in this effort to increase the volumes of our library!

Sincerely,
Mrs. Dennis, PTA Volunteer
