Last week's question and answer:

Which two cities in ארץ ישראל have numbers as part of their name?

(Hint: One is in this week's Parsha and one is in last week's)

קרית ארבע (כג. ב) and באר שבע (כב. יט)

This week's question:

In this Parsha, Yaakov and Eisav are a set of twins. Where else in חומש בראשית is there a set of twins and who are they?

MISHNAYOS PROGRAM

We are looking forward to starting our annual extra-curricular Mishnayos program once again! The program is open to all boys grades 3-5. This year it will run from Rosh Chodesh Kislev until Purim Katan. In conjunction with the Mishnayos Program, the fourth and fifth grade boys will be starting their optional Mishmar next Thursday. Our annual kickoff brunch in Toras Chaim is scheduled to take place on Sunday, November 24. More details about the program and brunch will follow. Sponsorships are available—please contact Rabbi Baumann.

YEDIOS HATORAH

The bi-annual Yedios Hatorah program is starting next week. We will once again be dividing the learning into monthly increments with a test at the end of each month. Be'ezras hashem as in the past, we will conclude the event at the end of the year with a celebration. Ask your children about the Yedios Hatorah packets next week.

See Book Fair info attached.

3B GETS A SPECIAL VISIT

As part of the third grade literature series, the third grade boys read a story about the legendary baseball player Babe Ruth. As a special treat, Mrs. Scott arranged for attorney, Morris Engelberg, to come speak to the class. Mr. Engelberg was Joe DiMaggio's (the famous New York Yankee baseball player) best friend before he passed away. He gave a very informative and interesting presentation about Joe DiMaggio's life as a Yankee player. Additionally, he and his wife presented each student with a classic baseball card of Joe DiMaggio. The students thoroughly enjoyed the visit and wrote individual thank you notes to him and his wife after their visit to the class.

MAZEL TOV

and family on the birth of a son.

SUCCEEDING WITH SUCCESS MAKER

Our first, second, and third graders are excited and enthusiastic about our new Success Maker program! Each student really enjoys visiting the Computer Lab and working individually at their own terminal, at their own pace, on their own level.

Both the reading and math elements of this program are presented in a fun and engaging manner which promotes an encouraging environment for continued success.

We are all familiar with the famous Pasuk from Mishlei -

חַנּוּךְ לְנֶעֶר עַל פִּי דַרְכוֹ “Train the child according to his way,” (22:6) and know that it means that one size does not fit all when it comes to the Chinuch of our children. That this is easier said than done is readily evident from this week’s Parsha, where many Meforshim find grounds for criticism (on their unfathomably high Madreiga) of Yitzchak and Rivkah’s upbringing of Esav.

Rav Shamshon Refoel Hirsch, zt”l, focuses on the words

וַיִּגְדְּלוּ הַנְּעָרִים “And the lads grew up,” (25:27) to point out, as Rashi himself says, that the stark differences between Yaakov and Esav were only recognized after their Bar Mitzva. Rav Hirsch states that this was a shortcoming in their Chinuch – by not recognizing at an earlier point, what their child Esav’s true nature was, Yitzchok and Rivkah raised and educated Esav in the same manner as Yaakov. Such an approach is a recipe for disaster.

What do we learn from this? We learn that perhaps the most important responsibility that lies with the parent is to gain insight into who his child really is. What are his strengths, weaknesses, talents, interests, temptations and challenges? We must find an area where the child really shines – and every child has at least a few outstanding attributes and talents. It’s important to look beyond childish immaturity and delve into the true character and innate abilities of the child. If we wait to find out who they really are once they’ve matured, we will have failed in our responsibilities as parents. Furthermore, we must resist the temptation to impose our autobiography on our children, as Stephen Covey of 7 Habits fame says, and raise them in accordance with their best interests, not our self-interest.

How does a parent go about this task? A few are blessed with natural perceptivity and can understand what really makes their child tick. For the rest of us, we need to do research. When our children are younger, we observe them closely to see they are healthy. As they grow we need to watch how they begin to interact with others. How do they perform basic tasks and develop responsibility for themselves and their actions? Once a child spends most of her waking hours in school, parents need to expand their `research team' to include the teachers and school personnel.

Communication is the key. Today's most successful people agree that the best communicators are those who know how to listen. Parents need to listen to what their child(ren)'s teachers have to say about their child's performance and to try to understand whatever insights the teachers share, in order to enhance their own perception of their child. Similarly, teachers are eager to listen to parents in order to know more about how to best help the child.

In this spirit, let's endeavor to elevate the home-school partnership to enhance our mutual efforts to gain insight into each child so we can confidently say we did our best to: חנך לנער על פי דרכו

This week's spotlight... our esteemed Guests of Honor:

Rabbi and Mrs. Niman are outstanding Marbitzei Torah in our community. In 1987, shortly after receiving smicha from Yeshiva Chofetz Chaim, Rabbi Niman joined our Hanhala. For over a quarter of a century, he has led our Yeshiva with great passion and humility, true to the vision and goals of his Rebbe, the Rosh HaYeshiva, HaGaon HaRav R' Henschel Leibowitz, zt"l. The Yeshiva's tremendous growth, from its humble beginnings in rented facilities on 41st and 79th Streets on Miami Beach, and modest pre-school houses in NMB, to our current beautiful, multi campus, 5 division, 750 student renowned institution of Torah and academic excellence, are the product of our Rosh Yeshiva and Rebbetzin's total commitment to our Yeshiva.

In the Bais Medrash, Rabbi Niman's sincere devotion to his talmidim and insightful shiurim challenge the bachurim to push themselves to greater heights in Torah learning. Additionally, Rabbi Niman has taken the time to be available to the community at large, through adult Shiurim and learning one on one with Baalei Batim. Rabbi Niman, through his insightful Torah wisdom, and focused dedication to securing the Yeshiva's spiritual and financial viability, has been an essential key component to our Yeshiva's emergence as a large, successful and sought after educational center.

Rebbetzin Niman, through her exemplary hachnosas orchim, her deep concern for the Yeshiva, and spearheading fund raising activities for the school, is a real partner in her husband's mission. Rebbetzin Niman has been a dedicated mechaneches at Bais Yaakov for many years. She has the unique ability to make the past come alive through her Historia classes, and she is now zoche to be teaching her second generation of students!

The Nimans are blessed with a beautiful family of children and grandchildren, who are following in the footsteps of their illustrious parents and grandparents. The YTCTE family is very fortunate to have two such special people dedicated solely to the mission of imparting Torah wisdom and its values to our children. We truly owe them a great deal of Hakoras Hatov.

Your generous response will make this our most successful campaign ever!

Dear Parents,

The whole school is excited about our upcoming Book Fair; this year's selection of books, from easy readers, to picture books, to best sellers and more, is something you don't want to miss. Take the opportunity to light up your young reader's face with a good book.

Schedule: Thursday 11/7 through Friday 11/15 from 8:30am – 4:00pm in the Library

Volunteers are needed and greatly appreciated!

Please call Malky Gordon at 305-491-5028 or fill out the attached form & return it to school

ONLINE FAIR: Once again this year you can shop at our online extended book fair!
Begins 11/10 and runs for an extended time frame until 11/30 !!

Shopping online will give you access to the full scholastic line, including titles that may not be available at the book fair. You can also create a wish list for extended family to give them the opportunity to shop as well, Chanukah is just around the corner and books make great presents. All orders will be delivered FREE to the school.

The URL is <http://bookfairs.scholastic.com/homepage/torasemes>

Here's how the Book Fair works:

Each class will visit the Book Fair twice with his/her class, the first time to either purchase books or to make a wish list to bring home for parents and the second time to make purchases. You and your family are invited to shop during school hours as well as during your child's class visit. We have books for all ages, and we think you'll be pleasantly surprised at the various selections and reasonable prices. Not to mention the benefit to our school library and PTA from the profits of your purchases.

One of the goals of our Book Fair is to increase classroom libraries. One way is with the Teacher Wish List, which allows you to donate books to your child's classroom in your child's name. Be sure to look for the Classroom Wish List display when you arrive. Donating books to the classroom and school library is even easier with the new Gift Certificate program, see gift certificates attached.

Participating with our 1 for Books program helps buy books for the students in our school. Simply fill out an attached slip and send it in with your loose change or dollars, each child bringing in a donation will be entered into a raffle for a reading treasure!

Sincerely,

Rachel F. Breier, Malky Gordon, Esta Rosenberg and Racheli Grossman,
Book Fair Chairpersons

It's never too early to think about Pesach! Take this opportunity to clean out your -bookshelves and donate your gently used books. All donated book will be sold in our dollar (or less) section at 100% profit to the PTA, while giving children who are unable to purchase full price books the ability to buy something proudly.

P.S. For your convenience, our Book Fair accepts credit cards and secured debit cards (with Visa or MasterCard logos on them).

To volunteer or for questions please contact: Malky Gordon 305-493-5028
